Evening Program

Night Blooming Cereus
Register to be contacted when it blooms, 6 PM—9 PM
Spend an evening watching a Night Blooming Cereus open a magnificent blossom. Opening for a single night only, each flower of this Epiphyllum cactus opens to be nearly a foot wide. The strongly fragrant blossoms often attract sphinx moths.

We have several plants at an Auburn residence with multiple buds that should bloom sometime in the next several weeks. We will watch to predict an evening when a flower (or hopefully flowers) will open. We will contact all registrants that afternoon to come watch or photograph the blooming. We will start around 6 pm and watch until a flower is fully open, usually by 9 pm or so. Pre-register to receive directions by emailing MAC@nhaudubon.org or calling the center at (603) 668-2045. $6 Members/$9 Non-Members. Credit Card Only.
